

Sept 2011

Australia: A major Australian oil and gas exploration and production company awards Saxon a second contract in their Bowen Basin development

Following on from the recent deployment of three rigs into Australia for a major oil and gas exploration and production company. We are happy to announce further growth in Australia with the signing of a further contract with the company to provide four drilling rigs for their CSG work in the Bowen Basin. The drilling rigs will be our ATS®320 design, which meet the company's requirements for highly efficient and modern drilling rigs. The rigs will start to be delivered from July 2012 for a three (3) year contract with options.

With this award it positions Saxon as one of the biggest rig providers in Australia.

Contact details for the Australia Saxon office can be found under Contact Us on our website at <http://www.saxonservices.com>. To apply for a position within our Australian operations you can contact our HR department at ausrecruitment@saxonservices.com

